

Service Area

Department: Planning & Building

Planning & Building's workforce consists of multi-disciplinary experts working in collaboration to provide effective community planning, building and economic development services. Roles include planners, urban designers, landscape architects, landscape and site plan technologists, engineers, statisticians, permit technicians, plans examiners, building inspectors, business consultants, marketing and research professionals, industry sector specialists and administrative staff.

